Pack Snapshot

- Buyer: Local service businesses
- Category: Local Service
- Startup cost: $0
- Time to first sale: 1-7 days
- Difficulty: Easy
- Positioning hook: Most local businesses lose trust before people visit.

Asset objective

- Google Business Profiles influence local trust, but many small businesses leave obvious profile issues unfixed.
- Keep the promise concrete: Do not promise rankings; sell profile hygiene and clarity.
- Use this asset to create a buyer-ready deliverable, not as a generic brainstorming note.

Core checklist

- Primary category is specific and matches the money-making service.
- Opening hours, holiday hours, service area, phone, and booking link are correct.
- Recent photos show real work, premises, staff, and proof of activity.
- Services and descriptions use plain customer language, not internal jargon.
- Review request prompt is ethical, simple, and sent after a real service moment.

Quality bar

- The asset should be specific enough that a buyer can approve it without a meeting.
- Every recommendation must be visible, actionable, and easy to explain.
- Remove anything that sounds impressive but does not change buyer behavior.

Delivery note

- Send the finished asset with a short summary of what changed.
- Include the next recommended step, the owner input needed, and the review deadline.
- Keep a copy of before/after evidence for renewals and follow-ups.

Scoring grid

- Categories: correct / partial / missing.
- Photos: current / stale / weak / missing.
- Services: customer-language / internal jargon / incomplete.
- Reviews: replied / partly replied / ignored.
- FAQs: useful / thin / missing.

Profile rescue example

- Prospect: local electrician with correct phone number but weak service descriptions, stale photos, and no FAQs.
- Top fix: replace generic service labels with customer-language service descriptions and add five job-type FAQs.
- Owner approval required: categories, operating hours, service area, emergency wording, and review prompt.
- Proof to save: before screenshots of categories, services, photos, reviews, and FAQ section.
